New buildings soaked by spring thaw

While the recent mild weather may have put a spring in everyone's step, it has had a more dampening effect on two buildings under construction in Minden.

Both the new curling club and recreation centre and the log library on Bobcaygeon Road north are suffering from leaking water. In the case of the curling club the water is dripping in through the newly installed roof. The water has ruined the ice surface and pitted certain portions of the cement covering in the lounge area. One corner of the basement also had a small accumulation of water.

The dripping began late Tuesday following heavy snowfalls and rain. On Tuesday evening a number of truly avid curlers braved the blustery weather conditions to be the first on the ice. Close to 25 curlers were on hand, and while the newly made ice was still a bit rough, it was more than compensated by the fact that the local members were playing on their own ice for the first time that season.

That elation quickly evaporated Wednesday morning when some members of the club arrived to find the ice surface flooded and water dripping in at numerous locations.

The flooded condition was enough to force club president Jim Garbutt to call a halt to any further attempt to get the curling season started in Minden this year. In a press release issued early this week the president said the present problems were beyond the club's control, "...and it is necessary to inform everyone that the 1981 curling season has been cancelled." The complete text of the press release follows this report.

Garbutt said the leaking water has caused some damage in the lounge area of the building but it was too early to assess the extent.

He said representatives of the contracting firm, Ray Knight Construction of Orillia and the building manufacturer, Butler Buildings, were on the site Monday to inspect the problem. Garbutt said the club has ceased making any payments to the firms and have requested that the leaking roof be replaced or repaired as quickly as possible. He said the contractor appeared to be sympathetic to the problems

After 50 years, Red & White closing Feb. 21

A business which has operated on Minden's main street for the past 50 years will soon be closing its doors.

Al Coneybeare has announced that the downtown Red & White store will cease operation as of February 21. The store will close on that date and will re-open February 26 when a clearance of all inventory will begin. Further details of the closing-out are expected to be announced next week.

According to Al Coneybeare, once the close-out sale is completed the building will be closed with renovations taking place on the premises. He said he will be opening a new business in the present location but refused to give any details at this time.

Coneybeare said the meat department will continue in operation during the renovations. Customers will be able to reach the department through the rear door of the present store.

The store owner said the renovations would be completed in about a month's time and the new store will open at that time.

Richard Harrison of Carnarvon proudly displays the 22 pound lake trout he caught Saturday afternoon on Boshkung Lake. Harrison, an avid fisherman, has a hut located just south of the Kinsman huts on the lake. He was jigging with a Williams Wobbler when the trout struck. The trophy is 36 inches long and 22 inches in girth. "It is certainly the biggest fish I have caught in Haliburton County," the happy angler commented.

Jury recommends improved emergency training and warnings about tires

Updated emergency training for ambulance personnel, firemen, hospital nursing staff and doctors working in emergency rooms was recommended by a coroner's jury sitting in Minden last week. The jury, hearing evidence into the automobile accident last November which took the lives of four Haliburton youths and a couple from Peterborough, also recommended that the public be made aware of the hazards involved in using radial style tires with the traditional bias ply tires on the same vehicle.

The jury sat for over two and a half days hearing testimony from ambulance personnel, nurses, doctors, police officers, experts from the Centre for Forensic Science in Toronto and other witnesses before reaching its findings Friday afternoon. The inquest, conducted by Coroner Dr. John P. MacKay of Parry Sound, started Wednesday morning.

The inquiry, as the coroner explained, was directly related to the death of Donald Faulkner, the driver of the northbound car. However, as MacKay pointed out at the outset of the hearing, the jury was charged with finding the identity of all the deceased, the time, date and cause of death and by what means all those who were involved in the accident had died. In addition to Donald Faulkner, the jury found that his wife, Mrs. Barbara Faulkner, Rodney Gorveatt, Penny Pripp, Wendy Schell and Jeff Hutchings, all Haliburton County youths, died of multiple injuries as a result of a two vehicle accident November 14. The jury found that Donald Faulkner had died in the emergency room at the Peterborough Civic Hospital although having received treatment at the Minden Red Cross Hospital. All others were pronounced dead at the scene.

The courtroom, at the township municipal building, was filled for the three days of testimony as the story of the accident and the unsuccessful efforts to save Donald Faulkner were being told. Lawyers representing a number of families and others involved in the accident quizzed the witnesses on various details as the jury of three men and two women listened intently.

Evidence presented during the hearing indicated that the youths had been attending a party at the home of Ronald Wrightman on Hall's Lake. The group of five left the party between 10:30 and 10:45 p.m. to drive several individuals home. Joe Dollo Jr., the only individual to survive the accident, was travelling with this group.

Jeff Hutchings, 17, was the driver of the car. The inquiry was told that as the Hutchings vehicle rounded the curve on Highway 35 just north of the Beech River bridge, the car left the road. Tire tracks along the shoulder of the roadway traced the path of the car as it started to slide sideways as it came back onto the travelled portion of the road. The vehicle skidded sideways across its own lane and was struck broadside by a car being driven by Donald Faulkner.

Both vehicles were destroyed in the resulting impact. Medical evidence indicated that Barbara Faulkner, Hutchings, Pripp, Gorveatt and Schell were killed instantly.

The inquest was told that both drivers had shown indications of alcohol consumption. Witnesses testified that during the party at Wrightman's a number of those attending were seen to be drinking alcohol, including Hutchings. Those attending the party told the jury that the youth did not appear to be impaired. Tests carried out by Forensic scientists in Toronto on a sample of Hutchings blood did indicate a reading of 167 milligrams of alcohol in 100 millilitres of blood. The expert, Dr. Kruger, suggested this equalled the consumption of 10 1/2 ounces of liquor. The level at which drivers are considered legally impaired in Ontario is 80 milligrams of alcohol in 100 millilitres of blood. He said there was no indication of drugs in the tests carried out.

Dr. Kruger also testified that the alcohol reading of Donald Faulkner's blood was 148 milligrams of alcohol in 100 millilitres of blood.

Tests were carried out on the other passengers of the Hutchings vehicle because at the time of the accident it was uncertain as to who had been the driver of that vehicle. Rod Gorveatt had a reading of 76 milligrams of alcohol in 100 millilitres of blood while Penny Pripp registered only "a mere trace" and Wendy Schell had no indication. The scientists did not find any trace of drugs in any of the blood samples examined.

Commenting on the readings taken on the two drivers, the forensic science expert said the amount of alcohol consumed could result in a person being less alert with a loss of co-ordination and visual abilities. He said these conditions could exist without the person showing any outward signs of impairment of ability.

A second expert from the Toronto centre testified that both vehicles appeared to be mechanically fit for use. However, he pointed out the Hutchings car had radial tires on the front and bias ply tires on the rear. He said that such a situation is unsafe and that once the vehicle entered a sharp curve, the rear tires would have started to skid and appeared to be willing to make the roof water tight.

Garbutt said this was not a problem common with Butler buildings. The roof is made of 26 gauge interlocking galvanized tin material that is held in place with screws. The roof was expected to have a slight slope to encourage water drainage. Garbutt said the water was pooling in some areas on the roof. He also noted that the snow had held the water on the roof.

Batts of insulation which were installed under the roof covering were also drenched by the leaks. The president said he expected these to be replaced where needed when the repairs were carried out.

The club president refused to say definitely what might have caused the leaks. He pointed out however that portions of the roof were installed during inclement weather. He speculated that the sheets of roofing material might not have been completely cleared of ice when they were caulked and screwed into place. When the ice melted with the mild weather these spaces would have created openings for the water.

"In a way I'm glad this problem has happened now," the president commented. "We can now get the matter corrected by the people who are responsible instead of having to negotiate with them or do it ourselves." Garbutt noted the leaks could have been disastrous if they had started in the middle of a weekend bonspiel.

A meeting to discuss the situation will be held February 25 at the curling club.

Library leaks

The library leaks are not the kind being experienced at the curling club, although the impact is similar. Water dripping off the eaves of the building lands on the cement pad which extends out four feet from the edge of the building.

The pad appears to be higher at the front edge than at the back and as a result the water has been collecting at the outside base, and in places, leaking under the base log. In several locations inside the building large pools of water are standing. This water has damaged the recently installed drywall partitions.

The installation of eaves troughing around the roof would solve the problem of the dripping water, but would still not eliminate the collection of water along the outside base log. One observer has suggested that the cement pad, constructed with thick steel reinforcing rods, will have to be broken with a pneumatic hammer, back to the base of the building. This would provide a natural slope away from the building to drain the water from the edge.

Until those corrective measures are carried out, it appears that every time it rains or snow melts from the roof, the library floor will be drenched.

Club's president's statement

The following is the statement from Minden Curling Club president with regard to the situation at the new building.

At this time I would like to bring the people of Minden and area up to date on the status of the new Curling and Recreation Centre Building.

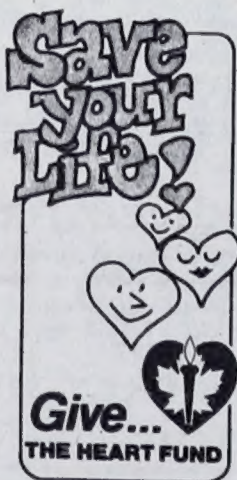

After much hard work by volunteers on the interior of the building and many hours spent preparing the ice surface for curling last week, we were ready to begin a shortened season. Unfortunately, the rainstorm last Wednesday, February 11, provided us with cause for another delay. This time however, the delay is beyond our control and it is necessary to inform everyone that the 1981 curling season has been cancelled.

The roof of the new building was poorly installed by the steel erectors and negotiations are taking place at this time to have it repaired or replaced to our satisfaction. The leakage in the roof literally ruined the ice to a point where it would be foolish to try to maintain it for curling.

I would like to invite everyone, past, present and future curlers or social members to attend a general meeting at the new rink on Wednesday, February 25 at 8 p.m. This meeting is to try and answer any questions regarding the new facility and also, to bring this year's paid members up to date on how we are going to deal with our problem.

I hope everyone can understand and not be too annoyed at the turn of events and also appreciate the disappointment of all the people who were involved in trying to have this building ready for curling.

Please try to attend the general meeting Wednesday, February 25, 1981 at 8 p.m.

It was meant to be a happy moment and the start of an abbreviated but much anticipated curling season Tuesday night (February 10). To mark the first night of curling, club president Jim Garbutt slid out of the hack as the group of curlers who braved stormy winter weather posed for this photo. It turned out to be the only time the ice surface will be used in the new curling rink this season. The following morning the roof of the new structure was leaking so badly the ice surface was ruined and there was little chance of any more curling taking place. The shortest season on record for the Minden Club, one night.

Charges laid following single vehicle accident

Charges of careless driving and driving without a driver's licence have been laid against a Dudley Township man.

William Cooper, (identified as Steve Cooper in a report in last week's Times) has been charged following an accident on Highway 35 north of the Beech River bridge. The mishap occurred February 9.

According to police the man was travelling south in his pick-up truck when he failed to negotiate a curve and his vehicle climbed a snowbank and rolled over. Cooper was thrown from the truck and was taken to Peterborough Civic Hospital suffering from a broken jaw. Damage was estimated at $5,000.

The accident was investigated by Constable Boyd Jarvis.

Truck vs. transport

A two vehicle accident on Highway 35 has resulted in $2,500 damage to the trucks involved. The mishap occurred February 11.

Police report that Gordon Stiver was travelling on Highway 35, passing the Highway 121 intersection just north of Minden, when a tractor trailer driven by James McCombe of Janetville slid through the intersection and struck the rear of the Stiver vehicle. Damage to the Stiver truck was estimated at $2,000 while the transport sustained $500 damage.

Investigation was carried out by Constable Bob Pearson.

Runaway snowmobile

A riderless snowmobile left the driver sitting in a snowbank, caused $1,500 damage to a car and then crashed down an embankment. The incident occurred February 12 in Lutterworth Township.

Nicholas Kilburn, 48, of Toronto was driving his snowmobile when he attempted to climb a snowbank. The rider fell off the machine, but the throttle remained stuck in the open position.

The machine took off by itself on the Black Lake Road. The machine struck a car travelling on Highway 35. That vehicle was being driven by Douglas Grant Austin, 35, of Keswick. Austin lost control of his vehicle and it struck a snowbank. The snowmobile reversed its direction after hitting the car, travelled over another snowbank and rolled down an embankment where it finally came to rest.

Damage to the car was estimated at $1500. No damage estimate was given for the snowmobile.

The incident was investigated by Constable Bob Pearson.

Pelvis broken

Another snowmobile accident, this time on a trail north of Moore Falls, resulted in a fractured pelvis for a Bolsover man.

Charles Dalton, 55, was travelling on a trail north of Moore Falls when he was thrown off the machine on a curve. The driver struck a tree and was injured.

Dalton was taken to Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay for treatment.

Constable Dennis Potter investigated the mishap.

Fails to yield

A Willowdale man has been charged with failing to yield at an intersection following a collision at Highway 35 and Highway 530 at Carnarvon. The accident occurred February 14.

Koni Mary Lattner, 29, of Stanhope Township was travelling north on the highway when her vehicle was struck in the side by a pick-up truck driven by Peter Stevenson, 18, of Willowdale. Stevenson had pulled onto the highway from Highway 530.

Damage to the Lattner vehicle was $1,000 while the Stevenson truck sustained $800 damage.

The accident was investigated by Constable Terry Brown.

Wheels of misfortune

Friday 13 proved to be a very unlucky day for an Ajax woman.

Marg Ensoll was travelling north on Highway 35 in her pick-up truck. In the back were two snowmobiles and behind the truck was a trailer with two more snow machines. As she pulled off the highway into a local eatery, Marg noted that the trailer seemed to be pulling slightly. After parking the truck she went around to investigate and discovered the trailer wheels were missing.

The driver couldn't say how far she had pulled the trailer without the wheels, as apparently she did not notice any noticeable change when the wheel came off, presumably when she was travelling along the highway.

Marg went next door to the Ontario Provincial Police detachment to ask whether anyone had found a missing pair of trailer wheels, but none have been located. Police report that the search is still on for the missing wheels.

The Victoria-Haliburton New Democrats held their nomination convention at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall, Lindsay on Sunday, February 15 to select their candidate in the forthcoming March 19 provincial election. The meeting was attended by over fifty NDP members and supporters. Guest speaker for the event was Paul Rexe, NDP candidate for the Peterborough riding.

There were two nominees for the candidacy - Art Field of R.R. 1, Little Britain, president of the riding association, and Ted Starr also of R.R. 1, Little Britain, secretary of the riding association. As it turned out, it was a cliffhanger, the first ballot being a tie vote. On the second ballot, Art Field was declared victorious by a plurality of one vote.

In his acceptance speech, Mr. Field thanked all those who cast their ballots in favour of his nomination and also those who voted against him as it was positive proof that ours is a democratic political party. He stated that he has the experience and the know-how to mount an effective campaign in that he has held office in some capacity in the riding association since 1961 and has been a campaign manager, federally and provincially, for at least five previous elections.

Mr. Field said that he knew it was an uphill battle for the NDP in Victoria - Haliburton but felt that he could build on the support that the electorate has shown in the past. His first objective is to win, his second objective is to increase our vote in line with our federal vote where, as you may remember, we achieved 21.5% of the vote - a feat unheard of a number of years ago.

The candidate then went on to outline some of the issues that he would be fighting in this election campaign. He talked about our senior citizens and blasted the Tories for their failure to provide thousands of Ontario elderly with a decent standard of living. He stated that many elderly retire not to the ease and comfort that they deserve but to deficient housing, poor nutrition, and inadequate health care.

This led him to his second point, health care in general. He stated that the people of Ontario are taxed three times for health care, through their taxes, through OHIP premiums, and through extra billing for medical services by doctors who have left Ontario medicare system. He said the Tories' only method to end opting out was to give doctors an 11.5 raise in OHIP rates in January of 1980 and many doctors took the money and continued to extra bill. He stated that the New Democrats would not permit extra billing by doctors to patients and that New Democrats would establish a "one price" health care. He said New Democrats established public health in Canada and will not let the Conservatives take it away in Ontario.

Members of Art Field's campaign executive include: campaign chairman - Ben Howlett; official agent - B.J. Allison; publicity chairman - Ralph Hart; sign chairman - George Hughes; canvass chairman - A.E. Starr; committee room chairman - B.J. Allison; and labour liaison - Shirley Prentice.

Members of the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council were thwarted in their efforts to meet with a representative of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications last Wednesday. The representative of the highway ministry was unable to reach the meeting because of poor driving conditions in the area.

The MTC spokesman was to have attended the February 11 meeting to discuss the wording and location of highway signs directing Highway 35 motorists to Minden.

The councillors used the opportunity to discuss their own plans for the signs and they visited the location of the present signs.

Following the on-site inspection, the councillors suggested a twelve sign package which would include signs for all four exits from Highway 35 at Main, New-castle, Prince and South Water streets. In addition the councillors have proposed that a sign be placed along the highway as it approaches Minden indicating, "Minden - next 4 exits".

The councillors' intention in changing the signs along the highway is to reduce confusion over the location of Minden. In particular the sign for northbound traffic has been confusing, the councillors claim. It gives motorists the impression the road leads to Bobcaygeon because of the greater emphasis given to "Bobcaygeon Road".

Any decision to change the signs on the highway will require the approval of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications. The matter is expected to come up for discussion again at the next regular council meeting.

Careful planning needed

A number of well-worn clichés come to mind as one considers the state of the new library-cultural centre or the curling club-recreation centre. "Haste makes waste", certainly applies in either case, or does "A stitch in time...."

We appreciate the desire on the part of members of both organizations, to have their new buildings in place and operating as quickly as possible, but it would appear the desire for speed has simply created more headaches and delays.

In the case of the library, the pad on which the building sits is too large. The extra cement lip acts as a saucer, catching the water dripping from the roof or blown against the building in a rain storm and channels it under the base log into the interior of the building. The situation makes the building unusable and also threatens to cause serious deterioration in the first course of logs. Part of the problem could be related to the fact a great deal of the construction was carried out during stormy autumn weather.

Likewise with the roof of the curling club, some of the work was carried out during inclement weather. The insulation was soaked by driving rain and apparently the installation of the sheets of roofing material also suffered in the late season building effort.

Hopefully these situations can be corrected without additional costs involved.

However, most importantly is the lesson to be learned in these examples. Such large undertakings require careful planning, an eye to all contingencies and a realization on the part of those involved that the quality of a structure should not be sacrificed for speed. As we have seen in these cases the delays only lead to frustration and disappointment.

It is unlikely another project of the magnitude of these two structures will be undertaken in this township in the near future. However other area municipalities should be aware of the potential problems that can arise in placing a project on a rush schedule. As well, outside funding agencies such as Wintario or the provincial government should exert greater pressure to ensure projects they fund are not being built on a schedule that leaves little room for flexibility.

Report from Parliament

by William C. Scott, M.P.

The long-awaited Small Business Development Bond program, proposed by the Progressive Conservative government in 1979, but sidetracked when that government was defeated, finally passed through the House on February 4th, 1981.

This proposal attracted so much public support in the 1979/80 election campaign that it was picked up by the incoming Liberal government and was included in its mini-budget last May.

However, except for draft legislation that never came before the House, the proposal was not acted upon. There was some concern on the part of the Official Opposition that the measure would be allowed to die on its planned expiration date of March 31st.

Responding to constant pressure from the Progressive Conservative Party Members in that House to extend the deadline to December 31st, 1981, the government finally relented and included the Bond program in a Bill to amend the Income Tax Act.

When this bill is passed by the Senate and receives Royal Assent, which is virtually assured, the program will provide for low-interest loans to small businesses, in amounts ranging from $10,000 to $500,000.

The rate of interest will vary, according to the prevailing rate of interest at the time of borrowing, but is expected to be about half of the going rate, plus approximately two per cent for handling.

This low rate will be possible because the average tax rate on earnings from interest by lending institutions is about 50 per cent. This tax will be waived by the government on all loans made under provisions of the Small Business Development Bond program, and this saving will be passed on to the borrower.

Small businesses must be wholly Canadian owned to be eligible for loans under the SBDB program, and any recognized lending institution will be able to take part in the program. This is construed to mean chartered banks, trust companies and credit unions.

SBDB loans can be applied to the purchase of property that is to be the sole property of the borrower, or to finance qualified expenditures. The money cannot be used to purchase an automobile, or any transportation equipment except where the vehicle will be used to transport passengers for hire. Repayment period for these loans cannot be less than one year, or more than five years.

Prospective borrowers

When Canadian songstress Anne Murray urged her little snowbird to "spread your tiny wings and fly away", she was undoubtedly not aware that the winter bird most of us call the snowbird is actually a snow bunting, a member of the same family as sparrows and finches. On a recent Saturday, I had the unusual opportunity to see these northern visitors up close, as part of a program to study the movements of snow buntings by leg banding and colour marking.

Of course, to band a bunting, first you have to catch it. That may seem an impossible task, for the huge winter flocks of snow buntings seem always on the move, lighting only briefly before swirling off to another field. Even on the ground, snow buntings seem seldom quiet, as the birds at the rear of a flock constantly rise and drop at the front, creating a wheeling motion like a whirlwind of dust. In the sky, the flocks shimmer and disappear as their white wings and bellies blend with the snow, and then appear again as the black wing markings become visible.

But all this movement takes place within a few square miles while the birds are in Ontario for the winter, and a regular route of repeated visits soon appears. A series of wire traps set on a regular feeding spot, liberally baited with corn and seeds, can yield a few or several dozen live birds at one time. Our trapping success was limited, with only nine birds after a long wait. Under the careful eye of a licensed bird bander, these nine were measured, their sex and age recorded, and an individually numbered band placed carefully on one leg of each. A harmless green dye was then painted on the wing and breast feathers, so that marked birds could be spotted from a distance. Recaptures of marked birds later in the season or in coming years will help to unravel the mystery of how the "snowbirds" spend their winters.

Snow buntings are largely seed-eaters, and their winter survival is enhanced by a special treat on occasion—fresh manure. This affinity for natural fertilizer can make bunting banding an odorous job. But to the dedicated volunteers who spend their time banding birds, such occupational hazards are outweighed by the chance to participate in a hobby that is both unique and useful.

Log chute restoration underway at Hawk River

Restoration work on a piece of Haliburton history is continuing quietly in Stanhope Township.

Workmen have been busy since mid-January adding to the log chute below the Big Hawk Lake dam.

The chute is a reminder of the proud past of this county when, in the springs, the lakes and rivers rang with the cries of loggers herding their bulky winter harvest to the mills on the south.

With the expansion of roads and the increased use of wagons, and later trucks, moving logs by water became obsolete. The sluiceway stood slowly deteriorating until, in 1971, the first attempt was made to restore the facility. A portion of the project was carried out, but work was forced to a halt before the entire chute could be rebuilt.

Now, with the assistance of a federal works grant, and a contribution from the municipal coffers, the Township of Stanhope is completing the work.

The municipality has received a $1600 grant from the federal authorities to employ five men for an eight week period.

The municipality has received the co-operation of Parks Canada who control the dam just above the chute.

The waterway feeds the Trent system and so is under their control. However, the federal agency has agreed to allow the dam to be closed each day to allow the work to be carried out. In the evening the stop logs are removed and the river flows again.

One of the workmen on the site notes that while this co-operation is appreciated, it also means that the work area is often ice-covered at the start of each day.

One of the biggest problems with the project was the clearing of the debris from the river bottom. Surprisingly some of the logs from the old chute were found to be in good enough condition to be included in the new construction.

The Hawk River (formally known as Kennisis River) is a popular attraction for visitors. The township road follows the winding river as it tumbles over a series of rapids. The municipality owns a park along the river's edge and a number of picnic tables are in place during the summer months. It is certain that once the log chute is in place, this area will become an even more popular location for visitors and residents.

Patrick Daniel teaching English in China

Patrick Daniel, an area cottager and former president of the Mountain Lake Property Association and New Democratic Party candidate in this riding during the last federal election, is now living in China as an exchange teacher. He and his wife Jean are teaching English in the foreign languages Department of the Shandong Teacher's College.

The Daniels have been in China since September and have prepared a number of reports of their experiences to share with our readers. The following is the first of those reports.

The Shandong Teacher's College is situated in Jinan, the capital city of the Province of Shandong. The College is the key college training teachers for the secondary schools of the province. The province has a population of about 80,000,000 people - the second largest province, in terms of population, in China.

Jinan lies about five miles south of the Yellow River in the heart of the province. It is on the rail line from Peking to Shanghai at the junction with an important branch line which leads eastward to the port of Quindao on the Pacific. The city has an urban population of about 1,500,000 with another 1,000,000 in the surrounding area.

The College gives a four-year course for graduates of the secondary schools (called "middle schools"). The students write an entrance examination to qualify for admission. At present most of the students in the Third and Fourth Years are in the middle or late twenties because they have been workers in various jobs between the time when they left middle school and the time when they entered this College. In the period known as the "cultural revolution" the educational system was seriously disrupted so that many students had their educational experience interrupted for weeks, months, or years.

There are about 3,500 students at the College with a teaching staff of about 600. The campus is a very large city block which includes several administration, library and classroom buildings, with playing fields and dormitories for the students (except for a few day students who have homes in Jinan.)

There are also dormitory

buildings for the single staff members on the campus, and apartment buildings with small apartments for the married staff members just across the road from the main gate of the College. It is the regular practice in China for educational institutions, factories, and other work units to provide accommodation for all employees at nominal rentals.

In China to-day there is a great impetus to improve instruction in foreign languages, especially in English which is the most popular of the foreign languages. In the Foreign Languages Department of this College there are about 350 students who are being trained in the English section, and 90 students in the Japanese section. The Department also offers basic training in English to students in other departments of the College (Science, Mathematics, etc.). Students in their final year in the English or Japanese sections of the Foreign Languages Department can study a second foreign language (French, Japanese or English, according to their choice). There are a number of staff members trained in the Russian language but no courses or students in this language at present. It is anticipated that Russian courses will be resumed next year.

In each of the four years of study the students in the English section take several different courses in English - some in literature but most in language. They also study such subjects as Chinese Language, Educational Psychology and Politics in the Chinese Language. The school year lasts from the beginning of September until mid-July with a three week break for the Chinese (Lunar) New Year holiday in early February.

The daily routine for the students (except on Sunday) begins with the rising bugle at 6 a.m. followed by morning exercises and then breakfast cafeteria-style in a large, unheated dining hall. The first class begins at 7:30 a.m. and there are four class periods in the morning. After the lunch break (2 1/2 hours in summer, 2 hours in winter) students return to their classrooms for further classes or self-study for at least two hours in the afternoon. The afternoon program is varied on Thursdays when all students and staff take part in "political study", and on Saturday afternoons when students and staff have sports or recreation or further meetings. Students and staff members use Sunday to visit friends, take a walk, wash clothes and clean their quarters.

Opportunities for recreational activities are very limited - a few organized sports activities on the campus and Chinese feature films on the campus or downtown with very low admission prices. Yet students and staff seem to be able to take pleasure in simple things, and to maintain a cheerful attitude to life even when this life includes no luxuries and limited opportunities for change or improvement.

first, turning the vehicle sideways. The expert commented that this was not the main cause of the accident, but would have been a contributing factor.

The expert also commented on the speed of the vehicles leading up to and at the point of impact. He said that by examining the skid marks of the Hutchings car leading up to the accident scene, he estimated the vehicle to be travelling at 130 to 160 kilometres per hour (80-100 mph) while at the point of impact the vehicle was travelling at 100-130 kmph (60-80 mph). He also estimated the Faulkner car to be going 60-90 kmph (37-56 mph) at the point of impact. There were no skid marks left by the Faulkner car.

Injured treated

The inquest was told that two individuals involved in the accident survived the initial crash and were taken to the Red Cross Hospital in Minden. Joe Dollo Jr. was the first to be removed from the accident scene.

Upon arriving at the Minden Hospital, Dollo was treated for cuts to his face and the bandage on a badly crushed hand was changed. Dr. Holliday-Rhodes, the doctor on call that evening, also ordered an x-ray of Dollo's lower right leg and the insertion of an intravenous tube. Preparations were also made to have the patient transferred to Peterborough. According to witnesses, although the x-ray had been developed and was ready for viewing, it was not seen by the doctor prior to Dollo's departure.

Dr. Roger Hogg, who examined Dollo upon his arrival in Peterborough testified that the youth was suffering from a fractured left ankle, fractured pelvis, multiple fractures of the lower right arm and wrist, fracture above the right elbow and concussion.

During the inquest, there was some question raised as to the treatment given to Donald Faulkner when he arrived at the Minden Red Cross Hospital. Faulkner was brought to the hospital shortly after Dollo arrived and was treated by Dr. Anthony Holliday-Rhodes. The hospital had been notified by the ambulance dispatcher that Faulkner's injuries were quite serious and that the staff had suspected that he was suffering from a collapsed lung.

One nurse on duty described Faulkner as being pale, slightly blue in colour, with shallow, gurgling breathing when he arrived at the hospital. She said the man had low blood pressure and a fast pulse, an indication of a loss of blood and a serious shock condition. A chest x-ray was ordered by the doctor and intravenous was started. A tube was also inserted into the left chest to drain fluid and air build-up around the lung. An oral airway, a device to hold the tongue in place to ensure it does not fall back and block the patient's throat, was also inserted.

Dr. Holliday-Rhodes, upon taking the stand, noted that he was a qualified diagnostic radiologist and that he had been practising in Canada since 1974. He was trained in Great Britain.

He told the jury he noted that Faulkner was seriously injured and in shock when he was brought into the emergency room at the hospital. The doctor said the man was breathing on his own but with some considerable difficulty. He said the reduced blood pressure and elevated pulse rate indicated a loss of blood volume and he knew the patient would have to be sent on to Peterborough for further treatment. He said his job at the time was to stabilize the man's condition so he could be transported to Peterborough.

Holliday-Rhodes said he suspected the man was suffering from chest injuries and suspected the lining around the lung was filling with air or fluid causing decreased lung capacity. He also noted that the man's upper jaw was broken and that suction was needed to keep the back of his mouth clear of fluid.

The doctor stated that the patient was conscious while at the Minden hospital.

The doctor described the patient's breathing as shallow and inefficient and he did consider inserting an endo-tracheal tube to assist with the breathing. (An endo-tracheal tube is a device which can be inserted into the trachea to ensure an airway is maintained to the lungs. The tube has a small cuff on the end which can be inflated once the tube is in place to block off the trachea from other foreign matter such as blood or vomitus.)

Holliday-Rhodes stated that he had inserted such tubes in the past but that he felt it was not needed in this case. He noted the patient was breathing on his own, was suffering from serious facial injuries and that it was necessary to get the patient to Peterborough hospital as quickly as possible. Inserting the tube requires that the face muscles be removed, a situation that would have caused a great deal of pain for the patient.

The doctor also noted that inserting the endo-tracheal tube in a conscious person can be risky as the tube can trigger a gag reflex when it passes the back of the throat. This gagging could cause vomitus to become lodged in the trachea thereby cutting off the airway.

He also stated that an x-ray was needed to determine the extent of fluid and air build-up around the lung. However, Dr. Holliday-Rhodes admitted that when he first examined the x-ray on the viewer the film was in "the wrong way around". Since the x-ray was that of a side of the patient's chest, turning the film around created the impression the other side of the chest was being displayed. The doctor also said that a marker, placed on the x-rays to indicate the right and left side, was placed on the wrong side of the film. He described the x-ray as having "some shortcomings".

Under questioning by the Crown Attorney, Linda Price, the doctor agreed that the patient had a "flailed chest". (This is a condition caused when a number of ribs are broken in a number of locations. This section of the rib cage is then no longer attached to the other chest bones. It is the expansion and contraction of the chest which causes the lungs to fill and empty during the breathing process. However, since the flailed portion of the chest was unattached, these "floated" on their own. When the chest of a person in such a condition attempts to expand to take in air, the flailed section does not expand with the other bones. Likewise when the chest cavity is contracted to expel air from the lungs, there is no pressure exerted by these floating ribs. As a result the lung which relies on the movement of the chest for breathing would have reduced capacity.)

The doctor was asked if a person suffering from a flailed chest and a collection of fluid around the lung should be treated by having an endo-tracheal tube inserted. Dr. Holliday-Rhodes replied, "Ideally, yes. I did consider it, however the man was conscious and had suffered injuries to his face."

The doctor stated the man was conscious when he left the hospital for Peterborough and he felt there was no need to have a nurse or himself accompany the patient on the trip. He said he was surprised when he learned the patient had died while enroute to the hospital.

Before the doctor left the stand he was asked directly whether the x-ray he had taken was that of the left or right side of Faulkner's chest. He replied it was the right side.

Dr. William Dawkins, a pathologist in Peterborough told the inquest that the death of Faulkner had been caused by a combination of injuries which included the crushing of the left side of the chest, bleeding in the chest and at numerous fractures and a slow loss of consciousness. The pathologist was asked if the man could have been saved, he answered, "I doubt it."

A Dr. Allison Lackie, a surgeon from Lindsay, testified as a consultant on the medical evidence presented during the enquiry. He said in his opinion an endo-tracheal tube should have been inserted immediately when Faulkner arrived at the Minden Hospital. "Maintaining the airway is vital," he commented. He said the insertion of the tube could have saved the man's life.

Lackie also suggested that more than one intravenous could have been attached to the patient to replace the lost blood. He said it was a common practice at the Lindsay hospital to insert at least two intravenous supplies in cases of severe shock.

He also noted that inserting the endo-tracheal tube could be carried out on a conscious patient with the assistance of a spray localized freezing. He admitted there was some risk in inserting the tube but suggested that with a flailed chest and fluid or air around one of the lungs, it would have been the treatment he would have followed.

Lackie said the x-ray taken by Dr. Holliday-Rhodes was of the left side of the chest.

Before sending the jury to consider its findings Coroner John MacKay pointed out that Dr. Holliday-Rhodes was forced to make a medical decision under difficult conditions.

The jury was out for four and a half hours before delivering its findings to the coroner.

List preparations underway for election

About 42,000 enumerators will carry out a door-to-door canvas February 16 to February 21 to compile lists of eligible voters for Ontario's 32nd general election. Polling day is March 19.

Enumerators are appointed by Returning Officers in the Province's 125 electoral districts from names submitted to them by political parties.

Working in pairs, enumerators will call at each residence to obtain the names of all qualified voters living there. From the enumeration, a preliminary voters list is compiled for each polling division within the electoral district. Each qualified voter who is enumerated will receive an enumeration receipt, Form 103, including the voter's name, electoral district and poll number and expected location of the polling place.

To be qualified to vote in this election, a person must at the time of voting be at least 18 years old, a Canadian citizen or British subject, and a resident of Ontario for at least the 12 months preceding election day on March 19.

A new voters list is prepared for each election in Ontario.

The preliminary list, prepared as a result of enumeration, is subject to revision. During the revising process, conducted from February 23 to March 7, qualified voters may be added and other corrections made. Details of revision may be obtained from the Returning Officer.

Enumerators will ask questions related to the aforementioned qualifications. No information will be requested concerning a voter's marital status or occupation. As well, there is no requirement to use Mr., Mrs., Miss or Ms. Individuals may use initials in place of given names.

Having identified themselves, enumerators must have free access to apartment and other multi-household buildings, as required by the Election Act. Special Enumeration Notices (Form F302) for apartment buildings are provided giving the dates and times of door-to-door visits, and in addition, dates and times when the enumerators will be available at a specified location within the building to accept the names of qualified voters.

It is important that voters ensure that their name is on the voters list, election officials point out. In urban areas, names must be on the final list to enable a person to vote. In rural districts, a qualified voter whose name is not on the list may on polling day be allowed to vote if he or she is identified and vouched for by another qualified elector whose name is on the list at that polling place.

Training for back to basics

Personal independence and self-sufficiency in the rural environment will be the main focus of Sir Sandford Fleming College's Haliburton School of Self-Sufficiency this summer.

Stressing food, shelter, and energy, the Haliburton school will offer one-week programs in small scale food production, working with draft horses, alternate energy sources, animal husbandry, butchering and preservation, and log and timber construction.

Emphasizing "hands on" skills, the Haliburton School of Self-Sufficiency will feature small classes and individual instruction in the rural environment. During the week-long courses, held between August 7 and Sept. 25, students will have an opportunity to learn and practice skills for an alternate lifestyle on local farms and woodlots.

There will not be any necessity to contact any government agency to apply for loans, unless there are circumstances that require decisions to be made by the government.

skills required for self-sufficiency", Sir Sandford Fleming College Northern Campus Director Barb Bolin says. "Most of our instructors are living the alternate lifestyle, and have learned their skills through experience".

Along with the one week courses offered from Aug. 7 to Sept. 25, the School will offer weekend workshops on country living, chainsaw use and maintenance and wind energy. The weekend workshops will be held on Aug. 28 - 29, Sept. 5 and Sept. 12 - 13 respectively.

Money to be returned

Funds collected locally to purchase protective vests for members of the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police are to be returned to the donors. The decision to return the money was made by fund organizer John Francis.

Francis noted that Ontario Premier William Davis announced earlier this week that the provincial government would be purchasing vests for all OPP officers. The province will also be funding 50% of the cost of vests purchased for municipal officers.

He pointed out that the need for the local fund ended with the announcement from Queen's Park and an effort will now be made to return the money to those who had donated it.

Among those who donated to the fund were John Francis, $280; Sid Stamp Fuels $250; Ethel Sparks $10; Sam LaBarge $25; and Mrs. Ed Lyle $15. The money was being kept in an account at the local branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce.

Machine recovered after two years

Police have recovered a snowmobile that was stolen two years ago from a Hamilton man. The recovery was made on Trapper's Trail in Dudley Township by Constable Al Bibby of the Minden OPP.

The constable was checking machines on the trail when he discovered a snowmobile which had its vehicle identification numbers obliterated. Further checks revealed the machine had been stolen some two years ago.

As the result of the investigation, an Edmonton woman has been charged with possession of stolen property.

Shannon Gillis, 21, is the person charged.

Police estimate the value of the machine at $1500.

Rock on

A band performing at the Haliburton High School lost $6 in cash after the money was removed from clothing left in the dressing room. The incident occurred Friday 13.

The theft is being investigated by Constable Jim Solway.

Vandalism

Thieves struck at the Minden Laundromat Saturday night, but they were unable to obtain any loot before they were scared off.

According to police, the intruders attempted to open three coin boxes on dryers in the Laundromat, but were apparently scared off before getting any money. Damage to the machines was estimated at $240.

Investigation of the incident is being carried out by Constable Bob Wood.

School group meets

The second meeting of the Archie Stouffer Public School Parent's Association will be held tonight at the school.

One of the main points of the meeting will be the election of officers to the executive committee. The meeting will also be addressed by school principal Stuart Baker. He will discuss the role of the principal in the education system.

An invitation has been extended to all parents of students at the school and members of the teaching staff to attend the meeting.

The organizers are particularly anxious to have those interested in serving on the executive committee attend. The meeting will be held in the library at the school beginning at 8 p.m. this evening (February 18).

Pioneer days at school

Students of the grade two and eight classes at Archie Stouffer Public School recently delved into the subject of pioneer life in Haliburton County. The results of their studies, in the form of projects and demonstrations, were on display for fellow students at the school library. The photos here show some of the many interesting aspects of days-gone-by discovered by the youngsters.

Name changes but purpose remains

The oldest and largest children's charity in Canada is changing its public identification from the 'Ontario Society for Crippled Children' to The Easter Seal Society.

Formed by ten service clubs in 1922 to co-ordinate and develop provincially the services rendered by the clubs locally, the Society has developed to embrace 236 service clubs across Ontario and now serves more than 6,000 families of physically handicapped children.

The significant change from the former name to the current name is the dropping of the word 'crippled'.

"There has been growing concern about retaining a name which appears to attach a label to the disabled individual", said Ian Bain, Executive Director of the Society. "Parents of disabled children and older disabled persons have expressed their regret at our retention of the word 'crippled'.

The Society's decision to change its public name was not made lightly", according to Bain. "With a record of nearly 60 years service to the families of disabled children in Ontario, the dropping of a familiar name was of considerable concern but the English language is dynamic and a word which was readily acceptable in the past may now have unpleasant connotations," Bain said. "The fact that 1981 is the International Year of Disabled Persons - with its theme 'Full participation and equality' - made 1981 an appropriate time for the change", he added.

While the Society will maintain the registration of its original name to protect future bequests, it will use the name 'The Easter Seal Society' in all publications, printed matter and fund-raising materials. The Easter Seal campaign was introduced in Ontario in 1947 and is the main fund-raising program of the Society. The 1981 appeal in Ontario will be held from March 16 to April 19 with a provincial goal of $3 million.

Funds received from the Haliburton County Snowarama for Timmy, scheduled for February 7, will go to support The Easter Seal Society.

We began the week with our regular activities on Monday. Several residents turned out to the fitness program in the morning, and later to crafts in the afternoon.

Monday evening was movie time in the auditorium. "To The Top" showed the full construction of the C.N. Tower. This is the world's tallest free-standing structure. It is open to the public daily and offers a striking view of up to 75 miles from some 1100 feet above the ground.

There is a Space deck observation area which is the highest in the world. At the 1500 foot level the view is breathtaking.

"The Second Reality" was a very interesting story about photography.

Tuesday morning

Minden W.I.

The regular monthly meeting of Minden Women's Institute was held on January 21 at St. Paul's Parish Hall with President Mrs. Clare Brown in the chair.

After the usual reports, the roll call was answered by the 19 members, giving stamped get-well cards and one guest was welcomed.

The Treasurer, Mrs. A. Kernohan, stated that just $15 was in the birthday box, guess we must have missed a good many as this is less than other years. The card report was given by Mrs. W. Moore and there were 26 cards sent to sick or shut-ins in the past month, as well as 32 Christmas cards. The collection for this fund and Pennies for Friendship were taken.

The correspondence was read as well as some thank-you notes.

Mrs. P. Clarke reported that the fees will go up to $3 and District Annual will be at Fenelon Falls on May 12. Plans were made for a quilting at Lillie Hogg's January 22 and all were invited to come and help, and if you are staying for lunch, bring your own. Three quilt tops had come and a thankyou card was signed by all.

From the quilting bee there will be a draw made on this article on May 30 with tickets to be sold at fifty cents or three for a dollar.

Mrs. M.J. O'Neill had prepared Current Events for 1980 and we all listened intently and remembered many pleasant events of that year. This is included in the Tweedsmuir Book, and keeps that up to date.

Mrs. M. Sears gave a humorous reading and the meeting adjourned.

The next meeting will be at the United Church Hall on February 18 at 2 p.m. and all ladies are welcome. Everyone enjoyed a social half hour and the delicious lunch and cup of tea served by the committee.

Rev. Wicks of Minden Gospel Church held service in the Chapel. Rev. Wicks started this service and then turned it over to Linda Shultz, who is a missionary in Columbia, South America. Linda had some beautiful slides to show us and told us of God's work and love in this part of the world. Everyone enjoyed the service very much.

Later in the afternoon we held a bingo in the main lounge for all our bingo lovers.

Tuesday evening our residents gathered in the lounge for Music Night. Mr. Bill Payne and Mr. Eldon Deacon were here to provide some lively entertainment for us. Our residents always enjoy and look forward to music night. Our thanks to these gentlemen for coming and especially on a night when the weather was so bad.

Thursday afternoon the ladies from Haliburton Baptist Church brought a tasty assortment of tea breads and fresh fruit for the tea party. We spent a nice afternoon enjoying the tea and the visit with the ladies. Later in the evening, the Kinsmen were here to call the numbers for the weekly bingo game. I understand there were quite a few lucky winners.

We ended the week of activities on a happy note with Grace Coburn leading us in the sing song. We sang some hymns and old favorites, and thoroughly enjoyed the piano music played by Lucille Clark.

Study grants awarded

Two northern Victoria County townships have been awarded grants by the provincial government to carry out housing studies. The Township of Somerville will receive $7,099 while the Township of Bexley has been awarded $6,047.

Awarded in response to a request from the municipalities, the grant will assist in the preparation of housing statements. This determines the municipality's housing needs and establishes housing targets to meet them, while ensuring that local housing targets are integrated with all-over provincial objectives.

The municipal housing studies will involve a detailed housing market analysis by type of housing, price range, income groups served and the availability of serviced land for future use.

Farm news & views

Agriculture Canada announced an income tax change affecting farmers last week. This year, for the first time, farmers can deduct wages paid to their spouse as an expense on their income tax returns.

In a ways and means motion made in Ottawa on April 21, 1980, it was proposed that all small independent businessmen, including farmers, be allowed to claim a deduction for wages paid to their spouse effective January 1, 1980. Although the bill to enact this change has not yet been passed by Parliament, Revenue Canada decided that in light of the anticipated legislation, farmers may claim the deduction on their 1980 tax returns.

In the past, farmers could not claim wages paid to their spouse. As a result, farm wives who worked full-time or part-time in the farm operation could not file a tax return on a share of the farm income, or make contributions to the Canada Pension Plan.

Now, farmers may pay a salary or wages to their spouse and deduct this from their gross farm income. The spouse must file a separate income tax return by April 30 and report the wages received.

Farmers who did not actually pay wages to their spouse during 1980 are not eligible for this tax deduction this year.

Qualified Entry

The Qualified Entry Program proposed by the Canadian Holstein Association was passed at their annual meeting on February 11.

The program allows breeders of purebred Holstein-Friesian cattle to register calves born from superior females which are not eligible for registration.

For a female calf to be accepted in the Qualified Entry Program, it must be the progeny of a bull registered in the herd book of the Holstein-Friesian Association and a Holstein-Friesian cow designated as a "Qualified Dam".

Only cows identified in the National Identification Program as the fourth known generation (D) at least, are eligible for designation as "Qualified Dam".

The cow must also be classified Good Plus or better and have produced at least one official milk record which meets one of the following requirements:

- 1) at least 120 BCA with a deviation from the herd of plus 20 or better, or
- 2) 160 B.C.A. or better.

Proper documentation will be required before a "Qualified Dam" certificate is issued.

Big Brothers benefit $2500

Haliburton County bowlers have added close to $2500 to the coffers of the local Big Brothers organization.

The contributions came in the form of pledges during a bowl-a-thon this past weekend at the Carnarvon Bowling Lanes. A number of individuals from throughout the county took to the lanes, after having gathered pledges of financial support based on the number of points scored.

Of the bowlers taking part, Neil Burke led the group with $303 in total pledges. Others with a lot of money riding on each roll included Pat Lichty at $214.14, Ev Stata with $190, and Ron Robinson Sr. with $177.

The bowlers were treated to tea and coffee courtesy of Gord Everall and fruitcake, cheese and crackers from Ev Stata.

Representatives of the local bowling council, who help the Haliburton Big Brothers organize the event, expressed their appreciation to a number of organizations for their contributions to the bowl-a-thon's success. Among those who helped out were: The Rotary Clubs of Minden and Haliburton; the Kinsmen Club of Haliburton; the Royal Canadian Legion; David Cameron of the Ministry of Natural Resources; Neil Burke of Ontario Hydro; Al Barnes of Minden OPP; Jack Brezina of The Times; Mae Wolfram of Mae's Country Mart; Larry Cummins (bowling for Lloyd Walker) for Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships; Creighton Feir of The Haliburton County Echo and Minden Recorder; presidents or their appointees, of the Carnarvon Bowling Leagues; area merchants and bowlers who participated.

(Jack Brezina of The Times would like to also salute Fred Cox who stood in for him and bowled a searing 257. Fred's score represents more than double anything Jack could have attempted.)

Last weekend the School band from Churchill Heights Public School, grades 5, 6, 7 and 8 and some parents and teachers were in our village; they were billeted out and spent some time touring our County, Kandalore, Frost Centre, Martin's Mill and also entertained at several schools. They also did some skiing.

Congratulations goes to the newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Thompson (nee Kim Anderson) who were married on Saturday.

Ain't it fine when things are going topsy-turvy and askew To discover someone showing good old-fashioned, faith in you?

Ain't it good when life seems dreary and your hopes about to end, Just to feel the handclasp cheery of a fine old loyal friend?

Gosh, one fellow to another means a lot from day to day, Seems we're living for each other in a friendly sort of way. When a smile or cheerful greetin' means so much to fellows sore, Seems we ought to keep repeatin' smiles and praises more an' more.

At the weekly Mini Card Party at St. Paul's Parish Hall last Thursday afternoon winners were for cribbage, Lil Porter and Diane Stevens; for euchre lone hands Ileen Crarey and others Alice Morrison and Johann Beattie.

New arrival is a baby boy, son of Debbi and Roger Dart and grandson of Nellie Dart. Jean and George Hewitt and great grandson of Pearl Lyle.

The community sends good wishes to Kathryn Daniel who celebrates her birthday this Friday.

There was another Second Chance Draw at Mae's on tickets no. 23-938 and lucky person this time was Tommy Prentice; congrats.

Sincere sympathy goes to the family and friends of the late Taylor Kernohan and also to the Albert Yakely family on the death of her mother.

Winners of the Valentine's Day Draw at the Brown Owl were: 1) Wm. (Blacky) Monroe 2) Albert Cox 3) Phil Graham.

Leroy Lichty spent the past weekend competing in the Port Perry snowmobile races.

Everyone sends good wishes to these people who have been in hospital or may still be there, Dave Lynas, Sally Cox, Mrs. Hugh Alton and Doug McKelvey.

Alice Morrison, Ileen Crarey and Gladys Wruth spent the weekend at Peterborough and Bridgenorth.

Lori Wrightman of Toronto spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Wrightman.

Weekend guests with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Grant were Lilian and Willis Ball of Toronto.

Linda and Bernie Thorpe spent the weekend at Owen Sound with her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Woodruff.

Miss Laura Bird of Toronto was a weekend guest with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bird and her sisters.

I met a quaint old gentleman One foggy winter's day. Said he to me right merrily: "Friend, spring is on the way!" "Poor chap," said I, "his mind has gone..." But when I'd thought a while I realised how right he was - And simply had to smile.

The days ahead may cheerless be, But spring is coming - just you see!

We see that crows have been flying around this past few weeks; wonder if they went south or got lazy and stayed in Toronto; we will likely have more winter yet.

Many people seem to have had trouble with ice backing up on their roofs, with the freezing and thawing this is a problem and not easy to solve.

The U.C.W. Martha Group are having their meeting at the Church Hall February 25 at 7:45 p.m. This weekend is Haliburton Village Winter Carnival; hope they have a good crowd and suitable weather.

Lots of ice on the sidewalks and roads last week, but with the thawing weather of Monday perhaps conditions will improve. Drive carefully so you arrive safely. Cheerio until next time.

Hi! That was some storm we had through the week, but it sure has turned out nice now, we must be doing something right for a change.

There was a lovely wedding over the weekend. Kim Anderson, eldest daughter of Gary and Marion Anderson, was married to Doug Thompson, son of Archie and Margaret Thompson. There were 87 people present, some were from Windsor, Tillbury, Comber and Toronto. Bill Thompson, Doug's brother, came from B.C. to be the best man. The ushers were Michael Anderson, the Bride's brother and Tom Thompson. The Matron of Honour was Kathy Wensik, the Bridesmaids were Carole Anderson, the Bride's sister and Linda McKinley. The couple will be taking a snowmobile trip to Huntsville for their honeymoon. We want to wish them congratulations and best wishes.

Norma Melinichuk, from Oshawa, was up visiting with her mother, Lil Porter, last weekend. Also visiting with Lil was her son, Bill, from Oshawa.

Visiting with Ken and Jean Bowron last Tuesday was Pastor and Mrs. Wicks and Lynda Schultz. Miss Schultz is a missionary on furlough from Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bacon from Kinmount visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bowron.

Major and Mrs. Lewis have Mr. and Mrs. Sharpe and family visiting over the weekend.

Wednesday morning a band arrived from Churchill Heights School. The band was made up of Grades 5, 6, 7 and 8 pupils. Wednesday they played at the High School in Haliburton and returned to play at Archie Stouffer Warm weather at last, wasn't that a beautiful weekend? The Galway and Cavendish Volunteer Fire Department had a good turnout for their winter fair.

Last Wednesday's euchre at Galway hall was called off due to the storm, but the group from Crystal Lake decided to take their sandwiches, cakes and prizes to the nearest cottage to play cards. Peanut and Jo Davidson were the hosts, Alma Harper was games chairman. They had three tables and the results were:

Men's high: Peanuts Davidson.
Men's low: Ken Yorke.
Ladies high: Jo Davidson.
Ladies low: Elsie Little-proud.

Get well wishes to Ken and Betty Stuart and Muriel Nightingale all seem to have got the same cold or flu.

Happy birthday to Melanie and Brian Tassle.

Mrs. Ida Yonge and Mr. Ray Hobbs visited the Burnt River Recreation Centre on Thursday night for a game of euchre. They were made to feel very welcome and were asked to extend the invitation to all who wished to join them at the Rec Hall for euchre and a lovely lunch at 8 p.m. any Thursday.

Must close for now till next week. Don't forget to phone me with your news item. Nothing is too small.

To the Residents of Minden

We would like to introduce to you Stan and Marion Hill of Brampton, the new owners of "Laurdic". They will take possession May 1st, and we know you will welcome them to the community.

We have operated "Laurdic" for over 40 years, and we leave it with many happy memories.

Our plans are to continue to serve our church and our community when we are settled in our home on Hunter St.
